ACTIVISM - POLITICS

Program Coordinator & Head Youth Advisor, In Network: National Security Academy (Globally recognized program)

-I am the program coordinator and I advise the Office of Countering Violent Extremism Director at the US Department of State, Dexter Ingram. In the program I get the opportunity to advise officials from the US Department of State on youth issues, foreign policy, human rights, climate security, and climate change.

-As the head youth advisor, I coordinate with my fellow advisors in gathering information from young advocates from my assigned region, Europe about what affects the youth in human rights and women's rights. I use the insights I learned from advocates to advise the director on youth issues, national security and human rights. It's been a great learning experience, deepening my understanding of policy formulation and global affairs.

College Ambassador, "United To Beat Malaria" UN Foundation Campaign

-As a college ambassador representing Indiana University, I empower youth to advocate for improving the health system and preventing the spread of malaria across the United States and the world. To achieve this goal, I coordinate with United To Beat Malaria and UN Foundation staffers to formulate policies to find different ways to prevent the spread of malaria.

- I collaborate with Members Of Congress to identify solutions that amplify youth voices across the State of New York and, in my district, the 12th district of New York. Furthermore, I aim to increase female representation in politics and advocacy. I also had a conversation with Congressman Jerry Nadler's office about the importance of amplifying youth voices and the prevention of malaria, for the security of our citizens.

-As an ambassador, I also worked with Girl Up staffers to develop policies to amplify female voices locally and internationally. Moreover, I coordinated with my international counterparts to find different solutions to prevent malaria from spreading globally and to increase female representation in diplomacy. In a report I compiled, I shared how international counterparts are faring regarding their countries'

Delegate for the United To Beat Malaria Leadership Summit, Washington DC (March 10, 2024) (Sponsored by Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation)

As a college ambassador for United To Beat Malaria with the UN Foundation, I will be meeting with advocates nationwide to find different ways to prevent malaria. My task is to contribute to a proposal for congress about the prevention of the spread of malaria for the security and safety of our own citizens.

Delegate & Speaker, NATO Youth Summit 2023

I represented American youth and the U.S. branch of the Hallmark International Youth Club at a summit where we discussed various critical topics. These topics included youth relations, security, women's rights, and humanitarian aid. I spoke on a panel with the U.S. Department of State, former Assistant Secretary of State for Europe and Eurasia, Beth Jones and The Department of Homeland Security and National Security Council Official, Russell Travers. My focus was on the impact of diplomacy on our daily lives and how it affects everyone, not just those in diplomatic fields. I also stressed the importance of diversity and multiculturalism in preventing conflicts. I also talked about the prevention of gender based violence in Ukraine and my time as a youth delegate for The World Bank. I also had the chance to tell my story about my transition from a dancer to a women's rights and youth advocate.

Delegate, World Bank Youth Summit

-I represented the Hallmark International Youth Club (USA branch) and the United States. I specialized in gender policy and youth empowerment. I was able to have discussions with my youth counterparts about the prevention of gender based violence and the importance of creating organizations that prevent misogyny and domestic violence from occurring.

- I was able to have conversations with my Ukrainian and Afghan counterparts, about the protection of women and girls in conflict areas. I was also able to talk to World Bank officials about the importance of implementing resources for youths worldwide to get the proper education. I was also able to discuss with other advocates about the importance of diversity, because with diversity then unity could be made which could prevent conflict from occurring.

Delegate, United Nations High Level Political Forum on Sustainable Development

In my capacity as a youth delegate for the HLPF Summit and the Global Climate and SDG Conference, I had the privilege of collaborating with international advocates on issues of significance. Specifically, I worked towards increasing resources for women's rights, climate finance, and climate education. My participation in meetings with International Ministers, UN Officials, and Scholars allowed me to contribute to policy development for the UNGA and the SDG agenda.

United Nations Association of the United States of America “Press Corps” member-

As a press corps member of UNA USA my task is to promote the importance of youth empowerment on social media and to coordinate with the communications team of the UN Foundation. All throughout UN Summits our task is to spread awareness in social media about youth leadership and diplomacy. I am also tasked to improve communication about international relations and to educate the youth about the importance of foreign affairs. During GES I also got to speak to the UN Spokesperson about issues that affect the youth in terms of misinformation, human rights and foreign policy. I also got to share our insights on how we can empower youth to be in journalism and leadership.
